PRATT PLANS TO GARDEN FETE BY ENTIRE ARMED STRENGTH OF DAHU MAY PARADE FEB. 22ND

At a recent meeting of the members of the Palama Settlement Improvement Club, an organization which was perfected several months ago, it was decided to call a mass meeting on February 13 of all the residents of the Palama community, at which Dr. J. S. B. Pratt, president of the board of health, will present his plans for the opening of the congested portions of the district.

The question of the crowded condition of Palama is one which has long confronted the community, and the matter has been taken up by the improvement club with a view to ridding the district of this condition. Dr. Pratt, was called into consultation by the members of the club, and the plans which he has formulated have been adopted by the club. According to Dr. Pratt, the one way in which the overcrowded condition may be overcome is by opening up cross streets through the blocks which are crowded with tenements and where the exits and entrances to these tenements are by narrow lanes. It is thought that by the opening of these cross streets that, in case of fire, the department would be given a far better chance to get in their work. As it is now, should a fire break out in the middle of one of the blocks where there are no entrances other than small lanes, it makes it impossible for the fire engines to get in.

The mass meeting will be held in order to put these plans before the residents of the district and to secure their co-operation in carrying them out. If they are received favorably it will mean that new streets will be opened up and the congested districts made more accessible.

Undertaking an elaborate garden fete during Carnival Week for the benefit of the Army Relief fund, ladies of Fort Ruger have added another feature to the official program of Floral Parade features. The fete will probably be held at Kapiolani park, and the date has been set for Wednesday, February 19.

With a number of women of the Coast Artillery who are active and effective in affairs of this kind, the success of the fete is assured. Mrs. Edward J. Timberlake has charge of the fete and will be assisted by other ladies of the fort.

The Army Relief fund is devoted to caring for destitute widows and orphans. A call from Mrs. Burbank, who is at the head of the organization in New York, has reached the women of the artillery of this city, and they have immediately set to work to raise funds to send east.

The park will be roped off and admission will be charged to all who go to the fete. One of the attractive features will be the Japanese tea garden, where Mrs. Humbert will preside. She will wear a Japanese costume and will be assisted by several little Japanese girls.

Many of the ladies of the post have been amused recently by fortune-telling by a woman from the Far East known as the Beautiful Irene. She has consented to give no exhibitions before the public until after the garden fete. She will have charge of the fortune-telling booth.

Mrs. Parker and Mrs. Nichols will look after the grab bag, the sand pile, the donkey rides and other amusements for the children.

The cigarette booth will savor of old Spain and Mrs. Appleton and Mrs. Skayton will preside, wearing Spanish costumes.

Mrs. Edward Carpenter, assisted by a bevy of society maids, will have the leis and cut flowers.

The ice cream and cake and other delicacies will be in the hands of Mrs. Johnstone and Mrs. Clarke. Punch, lemonade and other soft drinks will be served.

When the cause for which this fete is considered there will probably be hundreds of people at the park to contribute a little to the fund.

A Roman edict forbids telephone girls to marry until they are 23, and in the future married women will not be admitted to the service and a vow of celibacy will be required of the single ones. The edict is meeting with decided opposition.

HAVE TO SAVE

Dias trotted off to a furniture store, and now the little corner in the little room supposed to be dominated by the imposing personality of Catheart is cluttered with a magnificent desk, in the highly polished top of which Mr. Dias can see his smiling visage reflected whenever he finds time to pause in the rush of his important duties for the "outside districts."

Incidentally the desk cost $75, and the bill has not yet gone to the auditor for payment.

When Brigadier General Macomb, who sailed for home yesterday on the transport Sherman, arrives in Honolulu and has a chance to tackle the mass of business that awaits his attention, it will be definitely known what will be the extent of the military parade on Washington's Birthday. It is up to the department commander to say whether the entire command of Oahu is to be turned out, or whether only the mounted regiments will make the long march from Schofield Barracks to participate in the review.

Adjutant General Campbell is waiting for a conference with General Macomb before issuing the order for the movement of troops, but it is believed that the latter will decide to give Honolulu a sight of the full armed strength of the department, in which case the parade will be far beyond any former array turned out in Hawaii.

Without doubt the two mounted regiments at Schofield, the Fourth Cavalry and First Field Artillery, will participate, as will the Second Infantry, stationed at Shafter, and the coast artillery companies adjacent to the city. If the First and Twenty-fifth are also ordered to the city, the column would consist of a full brigade of infantry, with a full regiment of auxiliary cavalry and a battalion of field artillery, a

GOVERNOR PLANS RAW COLORS OF WEEK OF HARD WORK DESERT IN THESE PICTURE SLIDES

In social parlance Governor Frear will be "not at home" to all callers at the Chief Executive's office for the next week, beginning tomorrow morning. This rule will be adhered to throughout the entire day, and he announces that even his most intimate friends, or departmental heads on urgent business bent will be unable to see him unless summoned or announced by Territorial Secretary E. A. Mott-Smith.

"For the time Mr. Mott-Smith again becomes the acting governor," announced Governor Frear today, "and all persons having business to transact with the Executive must see him. Only in cases where my signature is necessary to documents will I be seen."

"So many affairs requiring attention now, just prior to the assembling of the legislature, have piled the work up on me until I can see my way clear only by giving an entire week to them, without interruption. My presence and advice is sought upon so many matters of varying importance that I have scarcely an hour in the office for study or preparation on legislative subjects. I no more get started on one of these than I am interrupted. This is continual and the result is that I spend my spare time in making false starts and getting nowhere."

All the raw, blazing color of the great burnt out ranges of the Arizona desert, much of the vivid life that bubbles out of and flows into the fringe of civilization that surrounds that chase of bleak, sun-blistered country are to be shown by the pictures cast upon the screen at the lecture to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Kemp, in the opera house Saturday evening, tickets for which are now on sale at the promotion committee rooms. The slides, made and colored by Mr. Kemp himself, are real masterpieces of such work, the craftsman having put his very soul in his task of reproducing as closely as possible the savage tints of that dread land. Some idea of the lecture and the pictures, which last include the moving pictures of the snake dance, can be gained from the following synopsis of the lecture:

Home of the Cliff Dwellers. A Mighty Chasm. Vermillion Bluffs. Crossing the Desert. Navajos. Evening in Camp. Clouds and Storm. The Painted Desert. Rocks and Erosion. The Prismatic Butte. Cities of the Sky. Primitive Sheep Herding. Household Duties. Climbing the Mesa. The Sentinel. Village Life. Watching the Snake Dance. The Rattlesnake Dance. Sunset on the Desert. Around the Camp Fire.

Effects produced as follows: Dioramic—Snowstorm in the Canyon. Evening in Camp. Clouds and Storm. The Prismatic Butte. Sunset on the Desert. Panoramas—Home of the Cliff Dwellers. Crossing the Desert. Hopi Village. Village Life. Animated—The Rattlesnake Dance of the Hopi Indians.

MALINI HAS MADE MANY APPEARANCES

When Malini was in London he appeared before the King and Queen, when in Washington he delighted President Roosevelt at the White House and where ever he goes he pleases his audiences. He is the talk of each town he visits and never fails to mystify. While in Honolulu he has appeared only at private entertainments, and as many tourists and residents of the city have not been guests at these functions Malini has consented to give a performance at the Young Hotel this evening. He is known as the greatest "prestidigitateur" in the world and though he visits towns unheralded it does not take him long to create a sensation. There has already been a big demand for seats at the entertainment this evening and there is no fear that he will have to play to empty chairs. Tickets may be had at the office of the Young Hotel.

Tomorrow night Malini will be the big attraction at the Country Club dance.

Mrs. Patrick Campbell, the actress, is suffering from fits of despondency as a result of her illness. For six months she suffered from blood poisoning and has just undergone a serious operation.

Guests at Alpine hotels in Switzerland have objected to the turkey trot and its variations which are being imported from America, and many of the hotels are forbidding "ragging" of all kinds.

Robbers looted the state bank of Mounds, Okla., of $3500. They locked the cashier in the vault where he was found two hours later.

NO FRUIT FLY UPON GUAVAS

"While up Pauoa valley yesterday I picked some very fine guavas," said William Brash this morning, "and they did not show a sign of having been stung by the Mediterranean fruit fly. Last year one could not find a guava up there which was not spoiled by the fly. These I got yesterday were very large, some of them as big as an orange."

As the existence of the fruit fly among the wild guava jungles was regarded as one of the most hopeless conditions against effective control when the campaign was started last year, the fact that the guavas this year indicate that they have somehow or another rid themselves of the pest is ground for encouragement that the thing may be prevented from having the calamitous consequences feared. Possibly there is a parasite in attendance on the fly which has not yet been discovered, or it may be that the drought of last year may have had something to do with its reduction in the guava jungles.
